Terms & conditions

Last updated: 18 August 2026

Terms governing access to and use of the Trager website.

01 / Website use

This website provides general information about Trager and its services. You may use it only for lawful purposes and must not interfere with its security, operation, or availability.

02 / No professional or contractual advice

Website content is provided for general information and does not constitute a proposal, warranty, technical recommendation, or binding commitment. Engagement terms are defined only in written agreements executed by authorized representatives.

Please note
A website enquiry does not create a service agreement. Scope, fees and delivery commitments are agreed separately in writing.

03 / Intellectual property

Unless otherwise stated, website content and branding belong to TRAGER PRIVATE LIMITED. You may not reproduce or commercially use them without written permission. Third-party names and trademarks remain the property of their respective owners.

04 / Links and availability

We are not responsible for third-party websites. We may change, suspend, or withdraw website content without notice and do not guarantee uninterrupted availability.

05 / Liability and governing law

To the extent permitted by law, Trager is not liable for loss arising solely from reliance on this website. These terms are governed by the laws of India, subject to applicable courts in Pune, Maharashtra.